Happy Birthday, City Of Carmel-by-the-Sea

Today Carmel is 41 years old as an incorporated city. On October 26, 1916, an election was held to decide whether Carmel should become a "city of the sixth class" with its own board of trustees or continue under the government of the county board of supervisors.

According to the Pine Cone of November 1, 1916, all of the registered voters within the boundaries of the proposed city, except 32 voted. Incorporation won by a majority of 27. The headline in the Pine Cone read: "Carmel Votes to Incorporate, 113 for; 86 against." The election became official on October 31 when Carmel-by-the-Sea was entered in the California State Archives as an incorporated city.

In the same election the citizens voted for trustees, city clerk and treasurer. For treasurer, L. S. Slevin beat J. E. Beck, 117 to 62. Of the three running for city clerk, J. E. Nichols got 74 votes, J. W. Hand, 57 and H. P. Larouette, 54.

The five trustees who won out of a slate of 11 were: A. P. Frazier, Peter Taylor, G. F. Beardsley, Mrs. E. K. Desable and D. W. W. Johnson. The latter beat M. J. Murphy by two votes. Another defeated candidate was Perry Newberry. It wasn't until a decade later that Mr. Newberry became editor of the Pine Cone, ran for city council on an I-am-against-improvement-platform and won.

William Overstreet, Pine Cone editor at the time of incorporation, established one of the policies of this paper, in the November 1, 1916 issue, that has never flagged. He immediately set about offering advice to the new city council. Among his suggestions:

"Remove unsightly shacks and outhouses.

"Repair the drinking trough on Ocean Avenue.

"Order repair of unsafe sidewalks.

"Impose a dog tax.

"Establish a speed limit for automobiles."

Blanche Elliott Killed In Accident On Road To Salinas

Blanche M. Elliott of Monterey was fatally injured in an accident at 5:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Salinas-Monterey Highway five-tenths of a mile East of Canyon del Rey.

Mrs. Elliott was driving west on the highway when her car struck the left front fender of a car driven by Robert V. Bega of Albany. Mrs. Elliott's car made a broadside arc into the westbound lane of traffic. She was thrown out of the car into the path of a pickup truck driven by Francis F. Demarest of Carmel. Driving through the rubble, Demarest ran over the body of Mrs. Elliott.

She was taken to the Monterey Hospital and pronounced dead on arrival. The accident is under investigation by the California highway patrol.

Mrs. Elliott was employed in the Salinas School of Dancing run by her husband Raymond Elliott. Mr. Bega is a plant pathologist at the University of California in Berkeley.

Mr. Demarest lives in Carmel Woods at San Marcos and San Lucas Streets and works at Kane and Zech store in Salinas.

POLICE STOP SWIM

Allene R. Smith, 32, of San Francisco was arrested last evening by Carmel police and charged with inebriation.

Carmel police cruising along Scenic Drive noticed an altercation and upon investigating found a woman friend trying to prevent Miss Smith from disrobing on the beach and going for a swim in the ocean.

BY CAROLYN ELSTON

It is generally accepted that when one reaches the "I remember when" stage that things just taper off and stop happening. Not so with Virginia Beattie, talented singer, at present very much occupied as the mother of four accomplished daughters, making her own contribution in music and local theater, and teaching voice.

As Virginia De Camp, majoring in philosophy at the University of California, she met, and fell in love with Douglas Beattie, whose major was zoology. The two had one great interest in common, singing. In addition to their college studies they were individually studying voice; and upon receiving their degrees they married.

Together they went to Italy to study and sing for two years in opera.

Returning to the United States, they concertized. Douglas made his American opera debut with the San Francisco Opera and sang in the San Francisco Symphony performance of the Beethoven Ninth.

In 1940 he first appeared with the Chicago Opera, singing in Tannhauser with the great Flagstad, and found her the kindest and least temperamental of all great artists," Virginia recalls.

Kindness on the part of the great singers also marked his debut at the Metropolitan. Joining the Met in mid-season, Douglas appeared in Aida as the king, with only a piano rehearsal. The encouragement and help on stage that Rose Bampton and others of the cast gave him on that occasion was never forgotten.

He sang with the Met for three seasons and toured in concert. Virginia was making a home for their children in Berkeley.

"A quartette of daughters, Helen, Genia, Tricia and Cynthia, kept me busy and very happy," said Virginia, "but I was determined that as they grew up my daughters would find me an inter-

Memorial For Mylar Is Gain For Red Cross

A contribution of $200 by the Carmel Rotary Club brought the total of the Fred Mylar Memorial Fund to $500 yesterday.

Since the death of Carmel's postmaster in July, friends of Fred Mylar, who include everybody who knew him during his 27 years in the post office, have wanted to honor his memory in some appropriate way. The post office employees started a fund with their contributions. Others have added to it. There was talk of a portrait, or a plaque, and then Helen Heavey, Chairman of the Carmel Red Cross Blood Program, who has worked with Fred Mylar on many Red Cross projects, offered a suggestion.

Mona Williams Is First In San Marino After Peanut War

Carmel writer Mona Williams, presently driving through Europe with her son, Chris, sends the Pine Cone an account of how they happened to be the first Americans to visit San Marino after hostilities ended.

"I am in San Marino," she writes, "the most amazing little country in the world, which, as you know has a Communist government and is situated on a mountain top.

"We were on our way to Venice but Chris likes adventure and I tagged along when he suggested we turn off and visit San Marino. There's just been a war here and at the border armed men met us. It was getting dark, we flashed passports, U.S. Army I.D. cards and fast talk. They didn't understand a word of it but we got in. Then we discovered we were the first Americans to enter the country since their little war a couple of months ago.

"We wound miles up a mountain top. We got a great big room in a luxurious hotel with hot water, a real tub and Turkish towels as big as sheets, but we were the only guests, and we were getting it cheap.

"We dined last night with men walking past with machine guns, eyeing us suspiciously. 'What were we doing there?' I myself don't know. All I do know is I am leading a wonderful unpredictable life and travelling with Chris is awfully different from a Cook's tour.

"Today we go to Venice."

Dawn Patrol Works Out On Beach With Kenneth Matthew

At six-thirty in the morning, every day of the week, five or six Carmelites of remarkable courage gather around Kenneth Matthew to do calisthenics on the beach, in the cold, grey dawn.

A lot more people, not such early risers, want to gather around him to do calisthenics in the evening at the Carmel High School or Sunset School Gymnasium.

William Wakefield, school district recreation director, is trying to find a time when the much-used gymnasiums will be free.

Mr. Matthew's business in life is jewelry. He came to Carmel in July to establish Jewelry Atelier on Dolores Street. But his driving interest is health through calisthenics. He himself, though not a youth, radiates energy.

He is a native of Hungary, serving.

Tonight — The Big Kiwanis Community Hallowe'en Party

A pumpkin head with green and orange costumed body and carrying school books, walked through Hatton Fields Mesa just before 9:00 o'clock this morning ready for the annual Kiwanis Club Hallowe'en party tonight at 7:00 o'clock on Sunset School baseball field, if that wonderful jack-o-lantern mask survives a school day.

Master of ceremonies at the Kiwanis party tonight is Thomas S. Elston, Jr., who will marshal between three and four hundred weirdly costumed children across the grandstand past judges Paul McKinstry, The Reverend Angus Dun, Jr., and Mrs. George Purvis, elementary schools P.T.A. president.

Every costumed participant will receive a balloon and a gift and special prizes will be given in each age group. The grand prize for the very best costume is a $25 Defense Bond. Prizes have been chosen for the party by Eugene Harrah, general chairman for the event.

Sunset eighth graders will have a hot coffee and hot dog stand at the affair for the first time, according to Kiwanis acting president Orville C. Rogers. The Kiwanis Club is providing the food and coffee and proceeds go to the eighth grade fund.

Every child in the Carmel area under 12 years old is eligible to enter the Kiwanis Hallowe'en costume contest.

PADRE GRID SQUADS AT KING CITY FRIDAY NIGHT

CCAL B-Division Standings

Carmel	3	0
King City	3	1
Pacific Grove	3	1
Gilroy	2	2
Gonzales	1	3

Top football attraction of the CCAL B-league takes place at King City tomorrow night where the undefeated Carmel Padres take on the rugged Mustangs. A win for the Mustangs would put the Blue & White on top of the league and would just about cinch a part of the championship since the only obstacle left in their way would be arch-rival Gonzales. A win for the Padres would put them a step nearer the title and would set the stage for the big one at Pacific Grove on November 8. While the Mustangs and Padres are having at it in the valley, Pacific Grove and Hollister clash at the Haybaler stadium. The all-important league crucial at King City appears to be a toss-up with the Mustangs enjoying a weight advantage and more speed in the backfield while the Padres are deeper at every position and rate a slight edge in backfield power. King City has played five games this season and blanked the opponents in four of the five tilts. The only team to score on the Mustangs was Coach Elder's Gilroy scooters who pushed across a pair of touchdowns in whipping King City, 13 to 0. Gilroy's free-wheeling single-wing offense gave King City lots of trouble and stunned the Mustangs for two quick scores in the first quarter. Coach Mike McCormick's Blue & White squad blanked Pacific Grove, 7 to 0, whitewashed Hollister, 6 to 0, goose-egged Live Oak, 20 to 0, and hung the horse collar on San Lorenzo, 26 to 0. Carmel's offense will receive its most severe test in this one and will have to be hitting on all cylinders to cross the Mustang goal line.

While the King City team has been noted for a rugged defense, the Carmel squad has shown a powerful offense which has rolled up 196 points in five games. Latest grid ratings show the Padres to be the second highest scoring team in Northern California with Weed High School a few points ahead of the Red & Gray. Starting offensive unit for the Padres tomorrow night will be Bill Hicks and Pat Harney, ends; Fred Nelson and Hal Gregerson, tackles; Mal Burdis, Mike Raggett and Neil Giarratana, guards; Parker Pollock, center; Ted Smith, quarterback and Captain; Andy Gray and Tim O'Shea, halfbacks; and Bob Goldwater, fullback. The defensive positions will be manned by Art Wilkerson and Alf Anderson, ends; Norm Colman and Phil Durbrow, tackles; Joe Mason and Al Eaker, guards; John Morse and Steve Gann, line-backers; Bud Conroy and Dennis Peavey, halfbacks; and Ted Smith, safety.

Another top football attraction is on tap in the preliminary tilt when Coach Fred Rainer's league-leading junior-varsity team clashes with the once-beaten King City jayvees. The Little Padres have improved with each game and appear ready to give the strong Pony squad a real battle for the league title. Equipped with a host of good running backs and a big forward wall the Padrecitos have shown a devastating offense and have limited their opponents to a six-point scoring average in all games played this season. Opening for the Little Padres will be Jamie Holman and Toby Edson, ends; Chris and John Wilkin, tackles; Doug McClurg and Van Treat, guards; Harrison Hilbert, center; Craig Smith, quarterback; Pete Willcox and Chips Wood, halfbacks; and Mike Marquard, fullback.

The junior-varsity game gets underway at 6:00 o'clock with the varsity fracas slated to start at 8:00 o'clock.

PADRES WIN TWO FROM GILROY

Powering to a 43-0 win in the junior-varsity game and shoving across three touchdowns for a 20-0 win in the varsity tilt, Carmel High football squads moved to the top in both divisions of the CCAL B-league at the expense of the Gilroy Mustangs last Saturday afternoon at Bardarson Field. The Little Padres scored in every quarter while routing the Gilroy jayvees in Saturday's preliminary game. Touchdowns came harder for the Padre varsity and the Red and Gray squad didn't establish game control until early in the fourth quarter when Andy Gray ramblod 17 yards for the clinching touchdown.

With Chips Wood, Pete Willcox, Ron Faia, Mike Draper, Mike Marquard, Paul Rice, and Dave Farr moving the ball for huge chunks of yardage on the ground, the Carmel jayvees moved into a 16-0 lead in the first quarter and the score kept mounting with each subsequent quarter. Fine passing by Craig Smith made the smooth Padrecitos pass patterns work for quick touchdowns as Jamie Holman and Nick Vertin put on a fine pass-catching show. An outstanding linebacking job by Larry Dufur was rewarded as Larry intercepted a Gilroy aerial and returned it for a touchdown. Up front, it was the hard-hitting line play of the Wilkin brothers, Van Treat, Harrison Hilbert and Doug McClurg which opened big running gaps for the fast Padrecito backs.

A solid team defense held together by the brilliant play of Carmel's All-League guard, Joe Mason, completely throttled Gilroy's vaunted single-wing offense and held the Mustangs to a net gain of 55 yards. The close-knit Padre defense allowed only two completed passes and kept the Mustangs outside the 40-yard line throughout the contest. While the hard-nosed Carmel defenders were turning back the Gilroy onslaughts, the Padre offensive unit made good use of a flanker attack to rip the Mustang flanks and off-tackle slots. With quarterback Ted Smith and fullback Bob Goldwater doing most of the damage, the Padres moved to a pair of touchdowns in the second quarter. Smith pushed over both touchdowns, going 7 yards on a sweep and diving one yard on a qb sneak. Gilroy's deepest penetration in the first half was to the Padre 42-yard line when Andy Gray fumbled away a screen pass which was recovered by the Mustangs.

Ahead, 14 to 0, starting the second half, it appeared that the Padres would get the clincher early as Tim O'Shea broke away for a 55-yard gainer and moved the Red and Gray to the Gilroy 20-yard line. The Padres moved to the one-yard line but a sturdy Mustang defense thwarted Carmel's scoring threat and took the ball away. A short Gilroy quick-kick set the stage for the third Carmel touchdown as the Padres took over on the visitor's 35-yard line. Andy Gray got the last 17 yards on a quick-opener over the excellent blocking of tackle Fred Nelson. Ted Smith's conversion, his only miss of the day, sailed low and the final score read, 20 to 0.

Outstanding in a near-perfect team defense was the hard tackling of halfbacks Dare Conroy and Dennis Peavey, the vicious line charge of Al Eaker, and the steady end play of Art Wilkerson, Phil White and Alf Anderson. Captain Joe Mason turned in his best game of the current season and the stubby guard has played topflight football in every game. Whether the play is through the middle, around the ends, or in the air, the ubiquitous Mason is sure to be there.

Now half way through the league schedule, the Padres have three tough ones ahead, meeting King City at the Mustang stadium tomorrow night, taking on Pacific Grove November 8, and making up the postponed game with Hollister on Friday, November 15.

"That's Enough! That's Enough!
We Can't Get It All In The Car"

Here's a cheap way to supply your home with water. Cheap, that is, in a money sense, but expensive in time and labor.

And consider these two points: You can't possibly supply all your family's needs with a water system of this kind; nor can you be assured that the water that you take home is safe.

Modern water systems, such as the one which serves this area, brings to your home—day in and day out—an abundant supply of good safe water, at the proper pressure, fast and inexpensively.

Plaxtons On Pink Cloud

Mr. and Mrs. Art Plaxton have been "riding on a pink cloud" since Saturday when a telephone call from Riverside informed them their first granddaughter, Julie Deen, had just been born. She weighed eight pounds, one and a half ounces, measured 21 inches, and is the first girl to be born on her father's side of the family for 35 years. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Brown (Betty Plaxton) of Riverside and she has three great-grandparents here, Mr. and Mrs. George Plaxton of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Nettie Rowe of Carmel. Mrs. Robert Spencer is her great-aunt and her great-uncle is James Rowe, both of Carmel. Her brothers are Bruce, three years old and Mark, two.

Mr. and Mrs. Plaxton left for Riverside immediately after the call. Mrs. Plaxton is remaining in the south for two weeks. Mr. Plaxton is back in the City Hall being Carmel's Tax and License Collector. "I'd been thinking pink for months," he says, "and when the baby was a girl I really began to ride on a cloud."

High Twelve Club Speaker

Dear Sir:

Last month we were visited by our Aunt from New Jersey. It was her first trip to California and we, being long-time Carmel lovers, had to show her the town and the beach at the first opportunity. It was one of those beautiful Carmel days and Aunt Agnes on that evening composed the attached poem.

The author is Mrs. Jack Ewing,

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

Carmel — Loveliest enchantment,
The very name a golden bell,
Ringing over sunlit sea
And in my heart eternally.

Carmel has silver, gold —
Silver sands by sun-jeweled tide,
Airs waft gently, ever sweet
O'er strands befitting angel feet.

When this heart tires, fretting,
Respite seeking from earth's pain,
Then, Carmel, let your glory shine
On this remembering heart of mine.

300 Hear Congressman Charles Teague Report On Recent Legislation

Congressman Charles M. Teague spoke last night to over 300 people, at a dinner in his honor at the Monterey Fairgrounds. He reviewed the actions of the last session of Congress, as well as the actions which failed to be taken.

First, Congressman Teague discussed the final results of the drive to cut the budget. The total proposed budget, he said, was reduced by about five billion dollars, a cut of approximately seven percent. He felt that many of the cuts were justified, in that they served notice on government agencies that they should not grow larger than their present size. The major reduction was in the budget for national defense, which was cut some four percent. He felt that in some places this was cut a little too thin, and he voted to restore about $400,000 to the defense budget. He believed that it could not be cut further because of the constantly rising costs of military equipment, which new technical devices have made increasingly more expensive. He also pointed out that since 60-65% of the national budget goes for defense and another 10% for interest on the national debt, more extensive cuts are impossible at this time.

He explained why he opposed federal aid for school construction this year: (1) Tax dollars always shrink in making the trip to Washington and back; (2) the school room shortage has decreased tremendously in two years, with the states and local school districts alone doing the job; two years ago, there was a shortage of 400,000 classrooms; today, it is only 70,000, without federal aid; (3) not one official from any of the 48 states came before Congress and testified that his state could not solve its own problem and needed federal aid; (4) if this bill were to pass, the impacted areas program, under which areas in which there are large numbers of military personnel who do not pay school taxes receive federal aid, would be abandoned; this would impose a particular hardship on this district.

Congressman Teague gave his full support to the civil rights bill which passed this Congress. He felt entirely convinced that the colored citizens of the South had not been given the same voting rights as white people. He felt that the bill which passed was a moderate one and that it was in no way a violation of states' rights, in which he fully believes. The states may still make any conditions they like applying to voting, as long as they are the same for white and colored.

PLANNERS APPROVE VALLEY RADIO STATION

The county planning commission, at its Tuesday meeting, granted Paul Hansen permission to erect a radio broadcasting antenna in Carmel Valley. Mr. Hansen, who has been on the peninsula for a year and a half, will have the call letters KTEE for his station, which will be located on Odello Island, two miles from Highway No. 1 on the Carmel River.

He plans to have the station in operation in 60 days, and will restrict broadcasting to the daylight hours.

COMMUNITY CHEST PROGRESS

Carmel has reached 77 percent of its $29,000 Community Chest goal with returns amounting this morning to $24,589.08. Residence zone collections are up 23½ percent over last year to date, according to Chest executive secretary Brayton Witherell, who says the job done in the residence zone by Mrs. Stafford Hughes and her workers is "terrific". The business zone, with six workers still to turn in reports, has reached 65 percent of its total of $6,602 to date. Lew Earl McCreery is business zone chairman. Clifford Cook is Carmel over-all chairman.

Navy Postgraduate School completed returns of $6,031 is 40 percent above the amount collected at the school last year. Captain D. M. Minner of Carmel is Navy School Chest chairman.

Aebersold-Chedester Liquor License Is Again Before ABC

Robert Aebersold and Paul Chedester will have another chance to get an off sale liquor license for the premises they have leased at Torres and Sixth Street.

Friday Judge Stanley Lawson dismissed their court action which: (1) challenged validity of the Carmel zoning ordinance; (2) claimed they were in compliance with that same ordinance since they had modified their application for the license. Judge Lawson remanded the matter to the ABC Board.

The ABC's appeals board has previously upheld the validity of the zoning ordinance which requires that sale of liquor in certain zones be subordinate to other business.

Aebersold and Chedester, whose first application was for a license to operate a liquor store, The Pink Elephant, now say they intend to operate a drugstore, the Surf and Sand, at the locality, with liquor sales subordinate to the drug business. They go before the ABC board with the contention that they are now in compliance with the ordinance.

Carmelites will have another chance to protest the license when the public hearing is called here.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

No citations and no injuries resulted from an accident at Dolores and Tenth streets yesterday morning at 9:00 o'clock when cars driven by John J. Redhead and Peggy R. Hourihan collided. Memorial For Mylar Is Gain For Red Cross

His kindness and efficiency on such occasions are remembered with gratitude by those who, because of illness or injury, had need of ambulance service. He was instrumental in obtaining the new Red Cross Ambulance in 1949 and went to Ohio to drive it here.

Replacing the crutches, wheelchairs and hospital beds that he himself so often transported to the homes of the ill would be an ideal memorial, the one he would have chosen, Helen Heavey thinks. All who knew Fred Mylar agree.

Corum Jackson, Carmel Red

Cross Chapter Chairman, has been asked to act as chairman for the fund. Yesterday, when he told the Rotary Club about the project, the members contributed $200. The post office employees have turned over their contributions and collections to Mr. Jackson. He will ask Carmel services clubs and civic organizations to contribute, and invites individuals who wish to share in this way of honoring the memory of a beloved citizen, who served this community for many years, to send their checks to The Fred Mylar Memorial Fund, Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross, Carmel.

Fanny Learned

Mrs. Fanny Tracy Learned, a summer resident of Carmel for 45 years, died on Monday in Pasadena at the age of 92. She was the widow of the late Dr. Leslie E. Learned, former rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church in Pasadena. During summer residence here, Dr. Learned often officiated at All Saints' Church in Carmel when the rector was on vacation and he and Mrs. Learned had many friends in the community.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Morris F. Sheldon, and a son, Kenneth A. Learned, both of Pasadena; four granddaughters, and two great-grandchildren.

On Sunday afternoon, November 10, Carmel's Gilbert Boyer will present a piano concert in Sunset Auditorium. Just back from a successful concert tour of Cape Cod, this is Gilbert Boyer's first public appearance this fall, the forerunner of a busy musical winter season.

Since coming to Carmel three years ago, this talented musician has enthusiastically promoted the playing and the presentation of good music. Founder and director of the Carmel Chamber Music Society, Boyer has played an important role in many of the Peninsula's noteworthy musical productions. In the Bach Festival he was Assistant Choral Director and a piano soloist. He directed the orchestra and choir of over 100 voices in the Messiah and in Brahms' Requiem, under Carmel Adult School sponsorship. He is director of the fast growing Carmel Studios of Music.

Boyer comes from the American branch of an ancient French family; the French actor Charles Boyer is a distant relative. An honor graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Gilbert Boyer continued his studies in South America with a noted Brazilian pianist, and won applause from South American critics. "A pianist of brilliant technique and sensitive artistry" commented Diaria de Norte of Rio de Janeiro.

Returning to this continent he won his Bachelor of Music degree

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves,
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

YOSEMITE IN AUTUMN

A recent editorial in the Christian Science Monitor on The Expanse of Nature strikes a responsive chord in the hearts of all conservationists who are concerned over our fast-vanishing wilderness. Expansiveness is one of the main characteristics of true wilderness.

The editorial is written from the point of view of a returning vacationist who has been seeking recreation in the true sense, "a recreating, refreshment of strength and spirits after toil". Too often recreation is thought of as merely physical exercise. The writer suggests that one way to find true recreation is "to get away from crowds and from man-made things, and to find the peace that reigns over an expanse of nature".

The word "expanse" is emphasized because, as the writer points out, you can find some form of nature in your own back yard but without any expansive feeling. In the national parks also, he says, you can find trees and shrubs and perhaps a little grass adjacent to the parking areas where the crowds are concentrated, things which you can find in your city park at home, but it is the expansiveness of the back-country wilderness that makes the national parks different.

The writer then quotes a remark once made by the British-born author, Stephen Leacock, who had a country cabin in Canada on the edge of the north woods. In explaining why he loved Canada, he said: "I wouldn't get into a canoe if you paid me. But it is nice to know that there is a million acres of wild canoe country to the north of my cabin. It gives me an expansiveness of soul."

My wife and I have just returned from a brief visit to Yosemite National Park to enjoy and photograph the autumn foliage. Having lived in New England during the first third of my life, the pageantry of the autumn colors has always meant very much to me. A few years ago we made a two weeks' trip through Northern California in October for the express purpose of finding as much autumn color in the foliage as possible. The climax of the trip came in Yosemite where for the last five days we enjoyed the golden glow of the oaks and maples and the reds and scarlets of the dogwood and azaleas.

This year we found the colors at their best between the 22nd and 26th of October. The dogwoods were gorgeous, especially between Wawona and Yosemite Valley. The golden masses of color from the oaks as usual filled many a mountainside and individual trees along the roadside glowed brilliantly against the light here and there. The broad-leaved maples especially put on a striking show this year, the gleaming yellow of their banners climbing up the talus slopes and into the chimneys of the cliffs.

Here is the expansiveness of nature at its best. The flaming foliage of the maples along the streets of my home town in New England was the epitome of natural beauty and occupies a very special place in my memory; but the "expansiveness of soul" that

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Musical Art Club's presentation of Mary Margaret Graham, lyric soprano, and David Nixon, violinist, was a happy choice of artists living on the Peninsula, who should have been heard by a larger audience than was present.

The versatile Mr. Nixon, with Gilbert Boyer accompanying, opened the program with seventeenth century composers in which Mr. Nixon demonstrated depth of musical tone and artistic feeling, particularly in the Tenaglia Aria. The Bach Sonata made greater demands on both players where, unfortunately, the excessive prominence of piano notes — possibly due to the piano's mechanism and the Club's high, hollow stage — overshadowed much of the violinist's phrasing where the Sonata demanded balanced polyphonic progression, though it was enjoyed and warmly applauded. Mary Margaret Graham, in brilliant voice, gave Italian, French and English songs and the operatic aria Non So Più from Mozart's Marriage of Figaro which she delivered with passionate expression and tempo. It was, however, in the French group the best quality of her voice showed, especially in Faure's Les Roses d'Ispahan, where a more sympathetic modulation was used, and the singer demonstrated throughout a capacity of real temperament. Her performance was enhanced by the truly musicianly playing of her accompanist, Marjorie Culver Freston. Too seldom, today, do we hear the kind of modulated accompanying and sympathetic touch she commanded.

The capacities of resident artists are not necessarily less than those of visitors and the local public can miss much by not hearing them.

Music for a Quiet Hour is the new and attractive name for the monthly programs for vesper services at All Saints'. Those present last Sunday were inspired with the playing of Robert Forbes, Mary Rosalie Haslett, and the Reverend H. M. M. Nicolas in organ, harp and violin trios, duets and soli by Veracini, Pergolesi, Gluck, Sammartini, Falla, Tournier, Hasselmans, Grieg, Debussy and Francoeur Kreisler, with the Reverend Angus Dun officiating. Mr. Dun's love of music was probably fostered by his father, Bishop Dun, in Washington, D.C., where large musical works are given under the baton of Conductor Callaway, with local and other artists, adding fame to the Cathedral. Robert Forbes and his choir are also well known on the Peninsula for many beautiful anthems in the services at All Saints'.

A large and enthusiastic gathering at All Saints' Parish Hall last week to listen to the pre-symphony talk by Gregory Millar. Mrs. B. McK. Doolittle, President of the Symphony Guild, opened the meeting. Father H. M. M. Nicholas of All Saints' kept everyone in fits of laughter with his amusing stories, climaxed by what he called a World Premiere, a mock orchestra of girls making a racket on tin-pans, bellows and what-not. Francesco Mazzi, gifted leader of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, delighted all with his fine playing of several classical numbers. He was accompanied by Gilbert Boyer.

Conductor Millar's analytical description of the season's opening program for November 3 and 4 was inspiring and comprehensive. Such talks, with a voice and diction that is a pleasure to listen to, makes for interest, and it is hoped they will be given throughout the symphony season.

Following the talk, the Guild served tea amidst a hub-bub of excited conversation. The Guild is doing much to help the Symphony, and many who are not yet members would find it interesting and rewarding to hear Gregory Millar's enlightening pre-symphony concert talks.

Pages From Gay's Diary

Carmelite Gay Kuster shares some of her year abroad with her friends here in the following pages from her diary. She'll be back in Carmel next month.

Tomorrow, rain or shine, we would go to the Louvre . . . As ever, when I come to Paris, and hunt for a large, mysterious painting by my father which has for years been in the Galerie du Jeu de Paume, it is somewhere else, on loan. That gallery now being closed for repairs, it might, they said, be in the Louvre. I have not seen it since it left London about 1912, bought by the French government, but I remember its tinge of the sinister, and beauty of color. In this canvas a Chinaman has gone to sleep on a leopard skin rug after smoking opium. He dreams that a cabinet on the opposite side of the picture opens, releasing several dancing girls whose brown or olive-green skins, lithe limbs and exotic costumes mingle, dream-fashion, with the mounting smoke of his opium pipe. Clotilde von Derp, later Sakaroff, posed for the dancers and was often in our house in Kensington. To my childish mind she was endowed with an eerie magic, and, as in "The Dream," I feared she might at any moment disappear from a "smoke-filled room," into the London fog. FEBRUARY 16th

Our long stay in the Louvre next day, stimulating to the eye but wearying to the feet, brought us no nearer the Dream picture. It was too big to be included in the few paintings brought over from the Jeu de Paume. We bought some Cezanne, Monet and Pissarro prints that I thought I couldn't live without, and tramped along the Rue de Rivoli, through the Place Vendôme into the Rue St. Honore again. Dinner at L'Auberge du Pere Louis was as succulent as ever. Here a chicken roasted on a turning spit tastes as nowhere else. At a nearby table two American businessmen put away twelve oysters each before their chickens came, and a French family opposite consumed twice as many snails. "Pere Louis" chicken costs half of a Pine Inn dinner. Braced with coffee as black as ink, we took ourselves into the dazzling Montmartre night. The crowds we'd seen pushing their way into the Folies Bergeres were now part of its audience, or had been turned away. All along the street we read signs aloud to each (Continued on Page Eleven)

Ellen Taylor

Mrs. Ellen Hildreth Phinney Taylor, mother of Mrs. Joseph Gledhill of Carmel, died at midnight on Tuesday in Pasadena after a brief illness. She had been a summer resident of Carmel for 40 years.

Mrs. Taylor, descendant of a New England colonial family, was born in Boston, Massachusetts, on November 28, 1869. She married the late Dr. J. George Taylor in 1887, and, after he retired from medical practice in Boston, travelled extensively with him in this country and abroad, including two trips around the world.

After leaving Boston Mrs. Taylor and her husband established a winter home in Pasadena and in 1917 a summer home in Carmel. Dr. Taylor died on December 31, 1953. Mrs. Taylor continued to come to Carmel each summer to visit her daughter and her grandchildren and great-grandchildren here.

Besides her daughter Hildreth in Carmel, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Eleanor T. James of Pasadena; seven grandchildren, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Nes and Gay Masten of Washington, D.C., Richard and Warren Masten and Leland and Donn Hare of Carmel; six great-grandchildren, Nancy, Margaret and Audrey Nes of Washington, and Geraldine, April and Stewart Masten of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held in Pasadena today. Inurnment will be in the family plot in Mount Auburn Cemetery in Boston.

The most important event planned by Monterey County Democrats for some time will be the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner to be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on November 17 with Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon as principal speaker.

Senator Morse, senior senator from Oregon, has served in the U.S. Senate since 1944.

Re-union In Rome

When Mona Williams visited the American Express office in Rome a week ago she looked to see if anyone from Carmel was listed in the register and found Fritz Wurzmans name. So she and her son Chris and Fritz met for a Carmel-re-union-in-Rome dinner.

Two-Shows At Town House

Mrs. Jessica Gilby, who recently returned from England, will exhibit paintings during November at Carmel Foundation Town House. Her water colors are mostly of cathedral and church interiors in which she has specialized, although she also is showing landscapes. Coming of a family of artists, Mrs. Gilby commenced her art career without any training while living at a twelfth century palace in the employ of the Bishop of Bath and Wells, inspired by the beauty of Wells Cathedral. When she came to America in 1946, 40 of her pictures, mostly of the traditional architecture of Oxford, were selected by the curator of the Warren Art Gallery in San Francisco for exhibition there. Today she is a member of the Croyden Art Society and Chichester Art Society in England, and of the Carmel Art Association.

Also, during November at Town House, will be shown paintings of Ling-fu Yang whose art studio has been in Carmel for the past 14 years. Before coming to the United States in 1937 Professor Ling-fu Yang was President of Fine Art College at Mukden, Manchuria. When the Japanese invaded Manchuria she fled to Germany. Later she came to Monterey to teach in the Language School of the Presidio. Before she came to the peninsula she taught Chinese painting in International House, Berkeley, Stanford University, and College of the Pacific.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, Claude T. Faw will show color slides of local scenes.

Business Association Speaker

The Carmel Business Association will hold a dinner meeting at the Highlands Inn on November 7.

As previously announced in the Pine Cone, Mr. Harry Steinberger, instructor in the business education department at Monterey Peninsula College, will speak on New Trends in Business Development and Merchandising.

Harry Steinberger comes from Modesto where for 11 years he supervised a similar type of merchandising program at Modesto High School. Previously he worked in the field of merchandising in San Francisco. He has his B.A. degree from the University of California and his M.A. degree from New York University.

Dick Boone Rides Camel

Former Carmelite and First Theatre Troupe of the Gold Coast, Richard Boone, is pictured full-page riding a camel in this week's issue of Life magazine, as well as "shooting it out" with a group of TV western stars in another picture. He is the star of the Have Gun, Will Travel television serial.

Since leaving Carmel, Dick has been acting on the stage in New York and in movies in Hollywood. Last year he was the principal character in the television Medic show. This year with his ten gallon hat, gun and western attire, Dick looks as though he had stepped straight from the First Theatre stage on to the television screen, except for the camel.

He now lives in Hollywood with his wife Pat and three year old son Peter.

Move To Sausalito

Mrs. Marion Cox and her son David, sixth grader at Sunset School, moved to Sausalito this week after two years in Carmel. Mrs. Cox will have an antique store, The Mustard Seed, on Bridgeway Boulevard in Sausalito, "but we'll be back here often," she promises.

Woman's Club Meeting Monday

An Englishman at Large in America is the subject of a not-too-serious lecture to be given by John Pettley at the general meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Pettley was born in London and in 1946 was sent to the California Institute of Technology by the J. Arthur Rank movie organization to study the application of meteorology to movie-making. He is now a member of the faculty of the Webb School in Claremont, California, where he lives with his American wife and two children.

During his years of residence in the United States he has done much to help create a closer and happier understanding between this country and Great Britain by means of a gay interpretation of the differences in their ways of life.

After the lecture tea will be served. Mrs. W. W. Terrill and Mrs. Sinclair McClellan will pour. Assisting will be Mrs. Edgar Wood Mayberry, Mrs. H. J. Taggart, Mrs. W. G. Thrall, Mrs. Maude Sutherland, Mrs. Violet Ballantyne, Miss Mabel D. Steen and Miss Eva L. Dunbar. Mrs. William Eklund will arrange the flowers.

Sail For Hawaii

Mrs. James Dalkin of Carmel and Mrs. George Herbert of Carmel Valley were passengers on the Lurline when it sailed from San Francisco on Monday bound for Hawaii.

Ernest Gann Home

Writer Ernest Gann returned from Hawaii last Thursday with the report that the Dutch pilot schooner Albatros, being used there in the filming of his book Twilight For The Gods, is so disguised with "age" camouflage that Carmelites who helped him sail the ship from Rotterdam to San Diego would not readily recognize the craft they kept so trim. Warren Johnston made the entire trip from Rotterdam to San Diego.

Pine Needles

Laurel Hildebrand Wed. Sunday

Friends and relatives filled the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday afternoon for the 3:00 o'clock wedding of Laurel Dell Hildebrand and John Lombardi. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray performed the ceremony before the candlelit altar decorated with autumn flowers in varied shades of red and yellow interspersed with white. Soft organ music was played while the guests assembled.

The bride, given in marriage by her father Carl A. Hildebrand of Carmel Valley, wore an ivory taffeta gown which she had both designed and made. The bodice of the dress had three-quarter length sleeves and a deep net yoke with a high neckline edged by a tiny stand-up collar embroidered with seed-pearls. A flowing leaf and flower design of applied Alencon lace medallions outlined the edge of the yoke and the same medallions adorned the front of the floor length skirt, which fell straight in front with sweeping fullness in back.

A wreath of wax orange blossoms held her fingertip veil in place and an arrangement of the same flowers with pale blue forget-me-nots covered the heirloom Bible which she carried. This Bible formerly belonged to her great-grandfather, George Nidever, Santa Barbara County pioneer. The toes of her white satin slippers were embroidered with pale blue beads matching the forget-me-nots on the Bible.

Carol Hildebrand attended her sister in a sage green dress made with a fitted lace bodice and a full ballerina length chiffon skirt. In her hair she wore a tiny green satin coronet trimmed with silver and red currant clusters and green leaves. Her bouquet was a formal round arrangement of white gardenias which matched her elbow length white lace gloves. Her shoes were of emerald green satin.

Best man for his brother was Vincent Lombardi, Jr., of San Francisco and ushers were the bride's brother, David Hildebrand of Carmel Valley, and two other brothers of the groom, Mario and Rocky Lombardi from San Francisco.

Mrs. Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand of Carmel attended her daughter's wedding in a sheath dress of cocoa brown Alencon lace over pale pink silk. Her small cocoa brown hat trimmed with pale pink roses matched her gown and brown satin slippers and pink accessories.

Mrs. Vincent Lombardi of San Francisco, the groom's mother, wore a pink lace sheath dress, a pink satin hat, brown shoes and accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

Vases of white stock with green ferns, carrying out the green and white color scheme of the wedding, decorated the Crystal Room at Pine Inn where the wedding reception was held. After the bride and groom had cut their four-tiered wedding cake and been toasted in champagne, they left for an undisclosed honeymoon destination.

On their return they will live in Park Merced, San Francisco. The bride, a buyer for the Emporium, was transferred last week from San Francisco to the Stonestown branch of the firm. Her husband is in charge of shipping operations at the Stanford Shopping Center branch of the same company.

Audubon Monthly Meeting, Trip

Tomorrow evening members of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will hold their regular monthly meeting at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel High School library. Dr. Carl Park will show color slides of birds of the Southern United States. A short film, The Butterfly, will also be shown. This movie portrays the life cycle of the butterfly, including the Monarch. All conservation-minded persons are welcome at the Audubon meeting.

On Sunday morning Audubon members meet at 9:00 o'clock for a field trip along The Old Stage Road. Gathering place is the parking area behind the Lucky Store, 1044 South Main Street, Salinas.

Military Ball At Del Monte

The ballroom of the United States Naval Postgraduate School, showplace of old Hotel Del Monte, was the setting of a glittering Grand Military Ball on Saturday evening, the first such event to be held on the peninsula in many years.

Cocktails and dinner preceded the ball which began at 9:30 with a grand march marshalled by Rear Admiral H. L. Pullen. Music was furnished by a 16 piece dance band comprised of elements from the 52nd Army Band at Fort Ord. General chairman of the ball was Major Guy B. Stohr (USAR ret.). Honorary chairman was Admiral Raymond Spruance (USN ret.). Both are Carmel residents.

Six New Citizens

Three young ladies and one young man joined the local population at the Peninsula Community Hospital during the past ten days. Denise Carol Ralston, daughter of Lieutenant and Mrs. Wesley Ralston, arrived first on October 21. Next came Lawrence Robert Sarosdy on October 22. He is the son of Lieutenant and Mrs. Louis Sarosdy.

Tracy Ann Marron, born on October 24, was the third arrival. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marron. Two days later, on October 26, Renee Michal de Bard joined new citizen ranks and the family of Mr. and Mrs. Philip M. de Bard.

At the Monterey Hospital Allan Lloyd Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Creston Winderford Crockett, became a future voter on October 16, and on October 19 Christopher Michael Nevins became a Carmel citizen. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Merton Nevins, Jr.

Tricia's Family Saw Othello

Mrs. Virginia Beattie drove her son-in-law and daughter, First Lieutenant and Mrs. William E. Simpson, to San Francisco on Monday where they took a plane for New York. Next they cross the Atlantic on a transport. Their final destination is Munich where Lieutenant Simpson will be stationed with the Air Force.

On Friday night all of Mrs. Beattie's family were together when they attended opening night of the College of the Pacific drama department's performance of Shakespeare's Othello in which Mrs. Beattie's daughter, Tricia, took the part of Desdemona.

The family party in Stockton included Mrs. Beattie; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. De Camp; her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Muninger; her youngest daughter, Cynthia; and Lieutenant and Mrs. Simpson.

Cakes For Two Birthdays

Two birthday cakes highlighted weekend activities at the home of Mrs. Julian von Meier, as two-year-old Adrienne Jean, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Silvear (Karen von Meier) and three-year-old Gael Kathleen, daughter of the A. Carol McKenney III's (Kathie von Meier), celebrated their natal days together. The McKenneys came down from San Lorenzo with their other two children, Carol IV and Erin, to join Mrs. von Meier, Karen and young Brian Silvear, in the celebration. Mrs. von Meier and Kathie also attended the Sunday wedding of Kathie's former Carmel High classmate, Laurel Hildebrand to John Lombardi.

Skipper Wight In Home Port

Murray Wight spent the summer off the coast of Northern California fishing commercially for salmon. When the salmon run ended he came south to Moss Landing to fish albacore. In one day's run he caught 18 fish but was forced to give up albacore fishing when the fish moved farther out to sea, beyond one day's supply of ice which is all the hold of his boat can carry.

We Needa Club Dinner

All handicapped persons and other interested people are invited to attend. Information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. J. W. Paterson, FR 2-2764.

other as we walked, stopping to listen to conversations or to look into windows. At one place a crowd of spectators cluttered the entire sidewalk. Behind a huge plate glass three chefs were busy filling orders for pizzas. One of them planted balls of dough the size of his fist in rows on a board. Then he whisked up a ball, flattened it to a pancake, threw it into the air several times, doing a dance, a cross between rock-'n'-roll and a whirling dervish, as he caught it. Recumbent upon its pan at last, this well-travelled mat of dough was then heaped with multi-colored chopped things, annointed with liquid, and slid upon a great wooden paddle into an oven. The crowd clapped and cheered and waited for more.

At the Theatre de Sarah Bernhardt Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" was being played; and, at the Opera, "Faust". But the thought of a seven o'clock breakfast followed by a taxi to the Gare Austerlitz turned our steps homeward.

Characteristic of a departure from a French hotel is the femme de chambre who follows the concierge with half the baggage, piling it beside the driver as the men look on. Ours was a diminutive figure, her face and hands red with cold. And the bunches of keys hanging from her belt looked several sizes too large for her. They clanged noisily in the early quiet of the street. She pocketed her reward with a cheery little bow, and, upon the sing-song of her "Merci et bon voyage, M'sieur 'dame", we pulled away from the curb in the smallest taxi I've ever bumped my head on... a little Panhard.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The way to overcome sin through spiritual understanding of God, divine Love, will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday. Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include Christ Jesus' parable (Luke 15) of the prodigal son who "wasted his substance with riotous living."

Passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (242:15): "In patient obedience to a patient God, let us labor to dissolve with the universal solvent of Love the adamant of error, — self-will, self-justification, and self-love, — which wars against spirituality and is the law of sin and death."

The Golden Text is from Ezekiel (18:30): "Repent, and turn yourselves from all your transgressions; so iniquity shall not be your ruin."

Virginia Beattie Combines Music With Domesticity

esting person as well as a mother. I continued to sing in local programs, and to participate in the local theatricals."

The Beatties moved to Porterville and went into the orange grove business. Along with cultivating oranges Virginia helped found the Porterville Barn Theatre, and for eight years worked on stage and back stage. The girls went right along, to rehearsals, to hours of scenery building, and to first nights. The Beattie home was a rendezvous for personalities of the theatre and the world of music.

"In 1948 Douglas sang for the Carmel Music Society," Virginia remembers.

In 1951 Douglas Beattie died. Helen, the eldest daughter, scientist of the family, married Harry Munsinger. She is now a laboratory technician in the Salinas Memorial Hospital.

Genia, second eldest, "dances her way through life" her mother told me. "She attended Pomona College and appeared in many dance recitals in Southern California. Romance won, and in her senior year Genia married Lieutenant William Simpson of the U.S. Air Force. They were in Carmel last week enroute to Munich. Tricia is the actress of the family. She is attending the College of the Pacific now and studying drama with DeMarcus Brown. Recently she starred as Desdemona in Mr. Brown's production of Othello.

The youngest daughter, Cynthia, is a freshman at Carmel High School. The flute is her current enthusiasm.

Virginia has appeared in performances at the First Theatre of Monterey, and the Golden Bough Circle Players.

All five Beatties spent three summers at the Idlewild Arts Foundation, working in all branches of the theatre arts. They have been living in Carmel for a bit more than a year now, with the girls' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. DeCamp, right next door.

ed in World War I in the Austrian Army. In Paris, between wars, he was stricken with arthritis. With diet and exercise he recovered his health, served in the underground in World War II, and finally in the Free French Legion in Africa.

Wherever he has gone he has drawn others into his enthusiasm for body development. For two years in San Francisco he was a volunteer leader of a late afternoon business men's calisthenics classes at the YMCA; in Chico he offered his services to the Chico Recreation District and led a similar class with great success.

His beach "class" came into being spontaneously. People, seeing him doing his exercises in the early dawn, gathered around to watch, and he invited them to join him. Anybody else who would like to work out with Mr. Matthew at 6:30 in the morning on the beach will be welcomed by the group and their volunteer instructor.

Symphony To Give First Concert On Monday Night

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra under director Gregory Millar is giving its first concert this season on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset School Auditorium. Joseph Axup is soloist in the Mozart Horn Concerto in E flat and James Schwabacher sings two arias from Mozart's Magic Flute, accompanied by the orchestra.

Elgar's Enigma Variations open the program honoring the composer's centennial this year. The program closes with three dances from de Falla's The Three Cornered Hat.

Following the concert the Symphony Guild will honor director Millar and the 70 members of the orchestra at a reception at the Carmel Art Association Gallery to which invitations have been issued to active, sustaining and life members of the Monterey County Symphony Association, Guild members who support the orchestra by buying season tickets, and persons in the community who have actively aided the Association in maintaining a symphony orchestra on the Monterey Peninsula.

William Parkes

William Henry Parkes died unexpectedly on Friday of a heart attack while visiting in Marysville, Ohio, where he had lived before moving to Carmel 12 years ago following the death of his wife.

Mr. Parkes was born in Southampton, England, on October 4, 1877. He farmed for many years in Marysville and had gone to Ohio to visit the present owners of his farm and his former neighbors and planned to visit relatives in Tennessee before returning to Carmel where he made his home at Valley Way and Carpenter Street.

He was a member of the Clyde Lodge, F & AM in Clyde, Ohio, and closely associated with the Carmel Masonic Lodge. He was a member of the Gay Nineties dance group, an ardent golfer and enjoyed hiking, woodworking and gardening. He was the brother of the late Earl Percy Parkes of Carmel.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Helen W. Parkes of Carmel; three nieces, Mrs. Harold Barker of Humboldt, Tennessee, Mrs. Helen Snapp of Nashville, Tennessee, and Mrs. John Williams of San Francisco; a nephew, Billie Parkes of Ben Lomond; and several grand-nieces and grand-nephews.

Funeral services conducted by the Carmel Masonic Lodge were this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the Paul Funeral Chapel followed by burial in the family plot in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Colonel Daniel Leininger, Charles Watson, Carl Patnude, Bernard Schulte, Louis Manning and Arthur Plaxton.
